

Slaughter fee memo

Slaughter fees are payable on invoice within thirty days of the inspection date. Late payments attract a five percent penalty in the first month and ten percent thereafter, rising to twenty five percent for accounts more than ninety days late. Veterinary inspectors must record all hygiene findings in the central register before leaving the premises, and licence renewals are processed through the single window portal within ten working days of application. Questions go to the licensing desk.